Firearms and Concealed Weapons Insurance Coverage

As an insurance agent or broker representing responsible gun owners, you want to be sure your clients have the right protection. Your goal is to find custom, supplemental, and liability coverage that protects their hard-earned assets and gives them peace of mind if they are involved in an accident with a firearm.

Your clients could be held responsible for damages resulting from willful or negligent acts with their weapons, even when they're not in their possession. This exposure can have devastating consequences that can place them in financial jeopardy if an injured party decides to file a lawsuit.

What does gun insurance cover?

A custom firearm and concealed carry insurance plan from Prime can cover a wide range of risks, such as:

- Firearms liability for injuries for incidents involving a weapon in open and concealed carry situations.
- Legal liability stemming from the accidental discharge of a weapon.
- Payment of bail bonds to keep policyholders out of prison after an arrest and during subsequent legal proceedings.
- Loss of income if a firearm-related arrest or incarceration prevents the policyholder from working.
- Costs associated with legal defense.*

The coverage applies up to the limits policyholders choose.

*Provided up until a court of competent jurisdiction enters a finding of guilt, at which time no further coverage is available under the policy and we will seek reimbursement for the cost of the legal defense. This policy may not be offered in every state depending on applicable state and local laws. Please contact us for more information.
